500,000 MORE NAZIS SURRENDER

LONDON, May 3 (INS)—The British Second Army has taken nearly 500,000 prisoners in the last 36 hours, BBC reported at 9 p. m. (3 p. m., EWT) today.

Surrenders in 4 Nations Near

PARIS, May 3 (INS)—Reports circulated in reliable French circles tonight unconditional surrender of German armies in Germany, Holland, Denmark and Norway may come soon. It is probable announcement will be made at the White House in Washington.

(A CBS correspondent on the British Second Army front said "bigger and better news" is expected in 48 hours. German attempts to evacuate to Norway, Denmark and Sweden are meeting with disaster before blazing guns of Allied warplanes. He added: "The end cannot be long now in this section, for nowhere today has there been any appreciable ground opposition."

(The Swedish radio said British forces were expected to enter Denmark tonight and declared a "heavy battle" has broken out between the Wehrmacht and the SS near Aarhus. London reports said British troops crossed the Kiel canal.)

Both Prague, Hamburg Quit

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, May 3 (AP)—Hamburg surrendered to the British today as the war in Europe drew toward its close. Remnants of one beaten German division after another surrendered. Prague, capital of Czechoslovakia, has been declared a "hospital city"—in effect, an "open" city. Denmark and Norway were isolated by British-Russian junctions on the Baltic. The western and eastern Allies linked up at new points during the day.

EUROPE TODAY—The port city of Hamburg (A) has surrendered to the Allies and Prague (B) Czechoslovak capital has been declared a hospital city as the Reich continues to crumble into the dust. Allied and Red forces made another junction at Wismar and Baelow. Shaded area is territory won by German surrender on Italian front.

Marshal Stalin announced collapse of German resistance in the entire northern German pocket east of Kiel. Stalin said the link with the British had been established along a 60-mile front from the Baltic to Wittenberge on the Elbe.

Canadian planes smashed a large concentration of German shipping evacuating military personnel fleeing from small Baltic ports toward Denmark.

Stalin said Barth, site of a prisoner of war camp for American fliers, Boberan, Neubukow, Warin and Wittenburg were captured.

The largest of many German death traps was shrinking in the south, where Gen. Eisenhower's three-army assault moved close to a junction with the Russians in eastern Austria. The Third Army moved to within 39 miles of Berchtesgaden and the Seventh Army closed to within seven miles of Innsbruck.

The Seventh got astride a superhighway east of Munich and its Third Division raced to within 27 miles of both Bertchesgaden and Salzburg in a drive across the Inn river from the west. Heavy snowdrifts delayed the advance on Innsbruck. Civilian refugees said the garrison there was ready to surrender but that SS troops were preparing to defend the western edge of the Tyrol capital.

Hamburg was the second largest city of Germany and its leading port.

One of the last remarks of the Hamburg radio was that Prague—largest city remaining in German hands—had been declared a "hospital city." The radio had proclaimed Hamburg an "open city" shortly before the British Second army entered. It was the first German city so designated.

Chaos reigned in the north. British and American troops burst defense after defense and gathered tens of thousands of prisoners.

Hamburg fell with hardly a struggle. The surrender terms called for British occupation and control of the city itself and a 10-mile arc surrounding it.

This placed the British within 37 miles of Kiel, main German naval base. Occupation troops placed the city under curfew and ordered all residents except utility plant workers confined to their homes after 1 p. m. today.

One hour before, Grand Adm. Doenitz, who had exclaimed defiantly against surrender when he assumed Hitler's bloody mantle—indicated a willingness to turn Prague over to the western Allies.

An order of the day later broadcast from Prague by Dr. Karl Frank, German minister of state for Bohemia and Moravia, pledged allegiance to Doenitz and the

Crisis in Norway, Denmark Due To Break Today

By ROBERT N. STURDEVANT

STOCKHOLM, May 3 (AP)—A responsible diplomat who cannot be more closely identified said developments clearing up the situation regarding German garrisons holding out in Denmark and Norway "might occur today."

Previously Swedish authorities expressed anxiety concerning the effect Adm. Doenitz's apparent control of a rump German government might have on the chances for a bloodless capitulation in Norway and Denmark.

Danish underground sources said Werner Best, German plenipotentiary in Denmark, had been called to a conference with Doenitz in what remains of North Germany.

Some informants said the Spanish and Japanese diplomatic staffs from Berlin had arrived at Copenhagen, Danish capital, in cars that bore bullet holes.

May Be Weeks Of Surrenders

By KINGSBURY SMITH

PARIS, May 3 (INS)—Germany is a defeated nation but Allied military observers believe weeks may pass before the European war can be considered definitely ended.

Acceptance of Allied surrender terms by the Germans in Italy is expected to encourage field commanders elsewhere to do the same but it will be on an individual rather than a collective and simultaneous basis.

Disintegration of the Third Reich is such it is considered questionable whether any central authority can order an effective surrender of the country as a whole.

Berlin Stacks Arms Under Victory Pillars

By EDDY GILMORE

MOSCOW, May 3 (AP)—Thousands of dirty and unshaven Germans shuffled through the Brandenburg gate under the Pillars of Victory in fallen Berlin today to lay down their arms where goose-stepping Prussians formerly paraded their triumphs. The hush of a dead nation lay over the smoking, broken capital, interrupted only by occasional explosions in the ruins.

There was no further information on the fate of Hitler or his propaganda minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, who were said by Goebbels' deputy to have committed suicide when their dream of Berlin as the capital of the world collapsed about them. But the Russians were checking the story.

One well-known Soviet commentator, Nikolai Tikhonov, declared in Pravda "Hitler is not in Berlin.

"Whether he fled to his devils' nest, to the other world or to the embraces of some Fascist protectorate it's all the same. He isn't in Berlin. We'll find out what actually happened to him, and if he has fled we'll find him no matter where he has found shelter."

The toll of captured Germans in the Nazi capital, originally announced last night as 70,000, grew today to 100,000.

The first Soviet eyewitness story on the capital's capitulation was written for Pravda by War Correspondent Jacob Macarenko.

As ironical as it was symbolical he said, was the fact that the actual surrender took place at the Tiergarten, Berlin's once beautiful central park, between Victory ave.—which bisects the Tiergarten from north to south—and the Pillars of Victory of the Brandenburg gate.

He said Berlin's Templehof airdrome already was being used by Russian planes.

"Immediately after capitulation the city's streets commenced to fill with the foe's battalions headed toward the appointed gathering place," Macarenko reported.

"The whole city is covered with white flags."

He met a soldier, Ivan Terekhin, a veteran of Stalingrad, who was watching the sullen Nazis pile up their arms.

"This dog was at Staraya Russa," muttered Terekhin. "This one was at Leningrad. This one was at Kaluga and this one he was even at Stalingrad."

The park known as the old square of Paris, just east of Brandenburg gate, was chosen as the place for the Germans to dump their arms.

"They piled their guns, one after another, on the ground," Macarenko wrote. "After surrendering their weapons they were headed for the outskirts in columns stretching for many kilometers. The Germans looked sadly from side to side at their wrecked capital. It must be pointed out that Allied aviation worked hard over Berlin. The very center was badly smashed—their Tiergarten, the Wilhelmstrasse, all government buildings, even the industrial districts.

"Here are two German soldiers supporting a wounded major. Besides them are majors, captains, lieutenants, followed by Storm Troopers and policemen, all of whom have succeeded in ripping off their Nazi insignia.

"We have seen old men and 15-year-old boys shuffling down the streets in columns seemingly without end.

"I asked Capt. Heinrich Schultz what the Germans hoped for. 'We hoped for nothing. We were ordered to hold out. Back of us stood the Storm Troopers ready to shoot us in the back,' he answered."

Late War Bulletins

LONDON, May 3 (INS)—A Reuter dispatch from Moscow said rumors of moves toward immediate unconditional surrender by Germany were circulating there today. These reports were considered significant since Moscow probably is the only United Nations capital which has never previously indulged in such speculations.

WITH U. S. THIRD ARMY, May 3 (INS)—Troops of the 15th Division of the Third Army entered the little Austrian village of Braunau, birthplace of Adolf Hitler, today. Few persons seemed to care Hitler was dead. Some laughed and said they were glad he was gone.

BERN, May 3 (AP)—Armed vigilance on the Swiss frontiers facing Germany, Italy and France will be maintained to uphold Swiss neutrality and prepare for any attempted German flight to Switzerland after a general capitulation, the government announced today. During the past year 60,000 refugees have approached Swiss frontiers and since April 20 approximately 4000 refugees have been arriving daily.

LONDON, May 3 (AP)—The Luxembourg radio said today many German commanders in Zeeland and Jutland were surrendering to Danish mayors, and that German rule in Denmark appeared to be near its end.

LONDON, May 3 (INS)—Adm. Doenitz was reported today in a Stockholm dispatch to be in the vicinity of the German naval base of Kiel.

LONDON, May 3 (INS)—The London Evening News today printed unconfirmed reports from Paris which said that Adm. Doenitz and Gestapo Chief Himmler had again approached the Allies on a peace settlement. They were said to have sent proposals, not only to the U. S. and Britain, but to Russia as well.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (AP)—Foreign Minister Shigenori Togo called on Heinrich Stahmer German ambassador to Tokyo, today to express official condolence of the Japanese government on Hitler's death.

MANAGUA, May 3 (AP)—Nicaragua celebrated today the fall of Berlin with a holiday. All business places closed.

STOCKHOLM, May 3 (AP)—It was officially stated today that Sweden had presented no condolences in connection with Hitler's death.

U. S. to Offer 9-Point Plan

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (AP) — The American delegation announced today it is sponsoring amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks charter designed to open the way to peaceful revision of world agreements in the postwar era.

Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, acting as spokesman for the delegation at the United Nations Conference, said the group had agreed upon nine major objectives in changes now being considered by the Big Four foreign ministers. They are:

1—Provision for functioning of the entire international organization "in keeping with the principles of justice."

2—Clarification of Dumbarton Oaks language to provide that the organization function within, and assist in developing, international law.

3—The development and safeguarding of human rights as a basic purpose of the new world organization.

4—Provision for "peaceful change of conditions in the world so that the world is not frozen."

5—Incorporation into the charter of a definite system of trusteeships.

6—Provision for future general review of the entire charter "in the light of experience and the developing world situation after the war is over."

7—Introduction of a modernized version of the World Court as an integral part of the United Nations organization.

8—Incorporation in the charter of specific provisions of the Atlantic Charter, to include the "four freedoms."

9—The outlining of cultural objectives discussed in the conversations with China at Dumbarton Oaks, but not included previously in the formula.

Growing in importance as the conference speeded its works was the issue represented between an all-powerful Security Council to guard future peace, and regional agreements to achieve the same end.

BAY STATER AT CONFERENCE—Sgt. Martha Lane of Hale st., Newton Upper Falls, is one of the group from the armed services now acting as honor guard at the San Francisco United Nations Conference. Sgt. British Carrier Fleet in Pacific

By Associated Press

Four of Britain's largest and most powerful aircraft carriers, H. M. S. Indomitable, Indefatigable, Victorious and Illustrious, now are operating in the Pacific, the British information services said today.

British soldiers smashed into Rangoon, supposedly defended by 30,000 Japs, in the climatic fight of the Burma campaign.

In other actions, British and French warships bombarded islands between Rangoon and Singapore for the third successive day; Superforts blasted airfields in southern Japan for the 13th time in five weeks; tank-led American infantrymen drove a mile deep wedge into Okinawa defenses; picked Australians opening the Borneo campaign pushed on from oil-soaked beaches; and the most decorated Yanks in the Pacific reached the gates of Davao in the southern Philippines.

Fall of Rangoon would finish the Burma campaign.

Dispatches from Tarakan, oil-producing island off the northeast coast of Borneo, reported that the first day of the Australian invasion insured quick development of an air base there, within range of Singapore, heretofore attacked only by B-29's.

Parley Fare Fair Enough

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3 (AP)—"Armenia Day" at the United Nations restaurant featured barbecued lamb on skewers, rolled cabbage, rice balls and stuffed grape leaves.

All very tasty and plenty of it. But it didn't appeal to one hungry citizen whose appetite runs enthusiactically to far simpler dishes. He left, muttering:

"Now, I know why they call them, 'The starving Armenians'."

Try this menu, ladies, for next Sunday. It's what was served by Anthony Eden to a bunch of the boys, including Ed Stettinius, Vyacheslav Molotov and T. V. Soong. Here it is:

Martinis or tomato, oysters on half shell, sirloin steak, new peas, hot fresh asparagus, potatoes au gratin, ice cream ring with chopped strawberries, smmall cakes, demitasse, hot rolls and strawberry jam.

11 Fliers Saved By Helicopter

MANCHESTER, N. H., May 3 (AP)—A Coast Guard helicopter dropped to within eight feet of the ground 11 times in a bleak and isolated spot in northern Labrador to save that number of marooned Canadian aviators in a dramatic North Atlantic rescue, North Atlantic Division, Air Transport Command headquarters revealed.

On the night of April 19, a RCAF plane was forced down on a flight from Mungan, Quebec, to Goose Bay, Labrador.

For 43 hours, nine RAF planes, piloted by British aviators, searched the barren area and finally sighted the wrecked craft.

After single rescue planes failed to reach the men, a call was sent to the rescue section of the Manchester unit. Lt. Com. Ray W. Blouin, at Boston Coast Guard headquarters, located a small helicopter which was loaded into a large carrier plane and flown to Goose Bay.

After the 125-mile journey to the stranded fliers, a rope ladder was dropped from a height of eight feet and one at a time, the Canadians were evacuated.

It was the first such rescue in the history of the North Atlantic Division, officials said.

Two Lost Girls All Night in Coal Bin

Dirty and bedraggled, two Saugus girls who had been missing since they left school for lunch at their homes yesterday noon, were found today walking in the downtown section of Lynn and were turned over to Saugus police.

RUTH DOWLING

The girls, Ruth Dowling, 10, daughter of Mrs. Irene Dowling of Hawkes st., and Lois Cassey, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cassey of Bow st., told police questioners they had spent the night in a coal bin. They had been sought by Saugus, Lynn and State Police since their parents reported them missing yesterday.

The Cassey girl is one of nine children.

Both girls were scheduled to attend the birthday party of a school chum, Dorothy Higgins, 12, of Walnut st., Saugus, yesterday afternoon. After the party, the Dowling girl and her mother planned to visit Ruth's brother, Colby, 20, a wounded South Pacific veteran, at Chelsea Naval Hospital.

Reilly Unfit, Clark Claims

By demanding a public explanation of the Executive Council's refusal to confirm him for the job, Fire Commr. William Arthur Reilly proved himself unqualified for the post of head of the Metropolitan District Commission, Democratic Councilor Joseph P. Clark of Fall River asserted today.

GETS CABINET JOB—Making his first Cabinet appointment since becoming Chief Executive, Pres. Harry S. Truman has appointed Robert Hannegan, Democratic national chairman, to replace retiring Frank C. Walker as Postmaster General. Hannegan is a fellow Missourian.

"I would have gone along with him for any State post for which I felt he was qualified," Clark declared. "But this statement and demand from him for a public explanation indicate I was right in believing he was not qualified for the job as head of the Metropolitan District Commission."

Reilly's demand was issued last night, several hours after he had requested Gov. Tobin to withdraw the appointment which first was submitted to the council 10 weeks ago.

In his statement Reilly labeled Clark and Councilor John J. Sawelle, of Boston, as "renegade Democrats" and Republican councilors as "rubber stamps of Lt. Gov. Bradford" for opposing confirmation of his appointment. He also charged Sawtelle with "influencing" Clark to go along with the Republicans.

"No one ever influenced me," Clark declared. "I've got a mind of my own and I've always voted the way my own mind told me. Last week Lt. Gov. Bradford called me a rubber stamp for Gov. Tobin. This week Reilly calls me a renegade Democrat.

"He says the people of my district will make me answer for my act. That's O. K. with me. The people of my district elect their own councilor and they don't need any help from Mr. Reilly in making up their minds."

Lt. Gov. Bradford and Republican Councilor Clayton L. Havey, of West Roxbury, both refused to comment on Reilly's charges or his demand for a public explanation.

Other members of the council were not available for comment.

Navy Challenged In Vice Case

For the second time in a month, Sol Aaron, 23, a Navy seaman from Brooklyn, went back to the Fargo building under Shore Patrol escort today but only after Judge Ralph W. Reeve of Lynn District Court had challenged the U. S. Navy.

Arraigned on a morals charge, aftermath of being trapped with the 37-year-old mother of eight children, he stepped from the prisoners' box into the arms of the Shore Patrol—just as he did a month ago.

"Just a minute," Judge Reeve announced.

"I'm going to surrender this man with the understanding that he gets a good stiff punishment.

"Navy men are my favorites but this is going too far. I want you men to tell your commanding officer to tell his commanding officer that if this man ever comes up before me again I'll challenge the whole U. S. Navy. I'll give them a real legal battle."

Judge Reeve gave Aaron's woman companion a suspended Sherborn sentence and probation.

Another couple found in the same establishment, a 29-year-old waitress and a 57-year-old Lynn electrical worker, also were found guilty. The waitress was sentenced to Sherborn, appealed and was held in $1500 bail, and her companion was fined $50.

Legislature's Peace Resolution OK'd

The legislative committee on constitutional law today favorably reported resolutions memorializing the President and Congress to a just and lasting peace.

The resolution said peace should be based on "principals of moral law, rights of all nations, and should provide for participation by the legitimate Polish government and by all branches of U. S. armed forces."

Navy Yard to Receive 5th E-Award Sunday

Boston's Navy Yard on Sunday will receive its fifth Army-Navy E award for excellence in production, it was announced today. Two barracks ships will be launched in conjunction with the ceremony.

Her husband punched her in the jaw and loosened her teeth because she objected to his drinking, Mrs. Esther Falen, 21, of Melrose, testified today in Middlesex Probate Court where she obtained an uncontested divorce from John Falen, now in the Navy, on grounds of cruelty.

More Chickens Marked for Army

WASHINGTON May 3 (INS)—The 100 per cent set-aside order on military procurement of chickens will shortly be extended to one or more poultry-producing areas, it was learned today.

The War Food Administration declined to identify the areas, but acknowledged that the forthcoming directive stems from widespread diversion of poultry into black markets, hampering Army purchases.

200 Butchers Called in Probe

Sixteen local butchers received subpoenas today to appear at OPA headquarters next Monday for questioning regarding activities of meat wholesalers.

Over 200 butchers from Boston, Lowell, Lawrence, New Bedford and Worcester will be called to determine what they know about black marketing in meats. Butchers from the western end of the State will be subpoenaed by the Springfield OPA.

Meat shortages have made retailers easy victims for unscrupulous wholesalers, Shoup declared.

Truman Defense Of OPA Scored

WASHINGTON, May 3 (INS)—Sen. Moore (R.) of Oklahoma today charged President Truman with interfering with the congressional food investigation. It was the first open criticism of the President on the floor of either House.

Moore said Mr. Truman, in terming OPA critics "irresponsible," has, in effect, declared the congressional committee "acted in an irresponsible manner."

False Teeth Bill Victim Gets $200

In a sealed verdict delivered after nearly five hours' deliberation, Sebastian Avellino, 23, of Claire ave., Roslindale, today was awarded $200 damages by a Suffolk Superior Court just for humiliation when he was arrested for not paying for his new false teeth.

The youth had sought $5000 damages from Dr. Robert R. Lasker of River st., Hyde Park, on the grounds he had been maliciously prosecuted for nonpayment of $47 for bridgework.

Avellino told the court he was arrested Dec. 20, 1943, on a larceny complaint sworn out by Dr. Lasker, and subsequently was found not guilty in West Roxbury court.

Since that time, he said, his reputation had been injured and he had lost weight because of humiliation.

H. E. Murray, Former News Executive, Dies

NEW YORK, May 3 (INS)—Hugh E. Murray, for many years an executive of the Hearst newspapers and subsequently a counselor and broker for newspaper properties, is dead today after an illness of six weeks.

Murray died yesterday in St. Elizabeth's Hospital. He would have been 64 next Wednesday. Funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 a. m. Saturday in the Blessed Sacrament Church.

Butter Aplenty But High Ration Cost Kills Sales

Asserting there is now more than three times as much butter in storage in Massachusetts as a year ago, George J. Cronin, State purchasing agent, declared today mismanagement of the food point rationing system was responsible for inability of residents to obtain their share of the available supply.

"The stores are full of butter," Cronin said, "but people can't buy it because they haven't enough red points. Twenty-four points is too much for a pound of butter."

He said that on April 1 there were 1,609,792 pounds stored in Massachusetts, compared to 528,000 pounds on the corresponding date a year ago.

"The ration point system was intended to be and should be flexible," he continued. "The points required should be changed to conform to supply."

Cronin said eggs were much scarcer this year and blamed the "black market" in poultry for the situation.

"The black market has stepped in and depleted our supply of laying hens," he declared, explaining there were only 1,715,220 dozens of eggs in stores in the State last April 1 as compared with a total of 4,433,361 dozens on April 1, 1944.

House in Fight On Truman Veto

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—President Truman's veto of legislation to liberalize farm-draft deferments today touched off his first fight with Congress.

Hardly had his message of disapproval been read than Rep. Flannagan (D.) of Virginia, author of the bill, launched a move to override the veto.

Rep. Andresen (R.) of Minnesota declared "there will be a virtual famine soon unless we protect farm workers."

Backers won a preliminary test when they rejected, 155 to 113, Rep. May's motion to send the measure back to committee. Republicans voting almost solidly against recommital and enough Democrats joining to indicate the motion would be defeated.

"In time of war it is the paramount obligation of every citizen to serve his country to the best of his ability," the President said in a message to the House.

The President said he did not believe that Congress really intended, in passing the Selective Service Act, that agricultural workers "should be given blanket deferment as a group."

Bill Tending to Freeze State Salaries Fought

Protests were filed with Gov. Tobin and the joint legislative ways and means committee today by James J. Kelleher, president of the Massachusetts State Employes' Ass'n, against a section of the State budget he claimed would freeze salaries of 21,000 employes at present levels.

Kelleher declared the section involved would prevent any progressive changes in salaries, which might be required by changing economic or social conditions, and asked that it be altered to permit upward adjustments if justified.

Widow, 60, Cited as Hospital Volunteer

By ALICE BISSELL

Hats off today to Sarah Gorfinkle and all others like her!

The brisk, tiny, 60-year-old widow has completed 3000 hours of volunteer service at City Hospital, and she's won a prize from hospital officials for giving more time than any other volunteer there.

On Surgical 7, for the past 15 months, five days a week, Sarah has fed and cared for the suffering, helped the nurses in their every wish, and by her faithful work has made it possible for one nurse to join the forces overseas.

"I dance in the ward for them, when they're blue. I sing the National Anthem sometimes," she said.

"No, I don't wear my service ribbon. I know my son, who's with the Army in China, doesn't wear his ribbon.

"I clean and sweep and do what I can," she said.

And in these days, when victory is beginning to dawn, the little folks like Sarah begin to see that what they sowed, they are going to reap.

"Why yes, I did my duty. Yes, I stuck to my guns," she said, with a tear in her eye, because she hadn't ever been thinking about that kind of stuff.

Extra $250,000 Urged To Rush Soldiers' Home

Recommendation for increasing the $750,000 appropriation for construction of a new 200-bed addition to the Chelsea Soldiers' Home to $1,000,000 will be made tomorrow by a legislative investigating committee.

The committee, headed by Sen. Charles G. Miles of Brockton, was named a month ago to investigate delay in construction of the addition, authorized by the Legislature in April, 1944.

The committee's report, to be filed tomorrow it was learned, will declare that the delay in starting construction was not due to any deliberate act by any person or persons, but was caused by overzealousness on the part of the Emergency Public Works Commission and several changes in plans and specifications by the board of trustees of the home.

The committee also learned that the delay was due to a difference of opinion over the site of the addition.

It was found that Powder Horn hill, owned by the city of Chelsea and adjacent to the home, was a more advantageous site, but that the $750,000 appropriation would be insufficient.

The site was turned over to the trustees by the Chelsea park commissioners last February and various economies and changes in the plans were suggested in an effort to remain within the $750,000 appropriation in building and equipping the addition.

The committee report will announce that revisions in plans have been completed and that the addition can be constructed on the Powder Horn hill site for approximately $901,000.

It will ask the Legislature to appropriate an additional $250,000 for the project so that work, which should have been started long ago, can be launched without further delay.

GETS CUSTODY—Mrs. Mary Ann Mulligan, Somerville child-bride, has been awarded custody of her seven-months-old son by Judge George M. Poland in Middlesex Court in an uncontested divorce action brought by her husband, Joseph P. Mulligan, who charged she hit and kicked him.

Survey Airport Job From Aloft

Legislators and officials and engineers of the State Public Works Dept. made an aerial survey of the progress of the Logan airport expansion today in flights conducted by the American Airlines.

"We learned more in those few minutes in the air than we could by lengthly study of plans, charts and scale models," declared Sen. Ralph V. Clampit, of Springfield, Senate chairman of the military affairs committee.

"It gave us a much better idea of how large the airport expansion can be and some indication of what a bright future an enlarged airport will bring to Massachusetts.

Gen. Richard K. Hale, member of the public works commission, explained the work now in progress and plans for future projects. He said all funds appropriated for expansion would be expended by June 1, but hoped for additional funds so that runways now under construction could be completed by next spring and the entire program by the fall of 1946.

WAC, Convict Mate Waited at Edwards

Four walls do not a prison make, nor iron bars a cage. No, sir; not even if you're doing a four-year term for robbery. All you have to do is fall in love with a WAC at Camp Edwards, conduct your courtship and propose by mail, get the great State of Arkansas to let you out of jail temporarily, and to grant the bride's wish that you be given a 30-day furlough and permission to accompany her back to her Cape Cod post.

That's no pipe dream, either. That's the real life romance of WAC Pvt. Mary Delena, 20, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., and John R. Bailey, Jr., of Malvern, Ark.

Married 10 days ago, the happy couple are now on a wedding trip which will bring her back to camp. And as an added wedding present, as if other Arkansas officials hadn't done a good enough job of playing Cupid, the Arkansas parole board announced today that Convict Bailey will get a parole hearing next month.

The romance of the WAC and the prisoner, neither of whom had ever seen each other, developed like this:

The girl began corresponding with Bailey four months ago after she had met his sister-in-law, also a WAC private.

Bailey proposed marriage by mail.

WAC Delena got a marriage furlough to come to Arkansas to meet him.

She didn't want to be married in prison. She went to Gov. Ben Laney with her dilemma.

The Governor granted Bailey a 30-day furlough. Then Acting Gov. J. L. Shaver, in the absence of Gov. Laney, also lent a helping hand. He granted a 30-day furlough extension so Bailey could accompany his bride to Camp Edwards.

Bailey, serving a four-year sentence for robbery, has been in prison since July, 1943.

Reardon Loses School Job Test

After almost a year of controversy, J. S. Reardon of Glenrose rd., Dorchester, today lost before the Massachusetts Supreme Court in his action to uphold his appointment by the Boston School Committee as a schoolhouse custodian.

Reardon, brother-in-law of School Committeeman Patrick J. Foley, was appointed May 3, 1944 but the Civil Service Commission, refusing to sanction the appointment, ordered his salary held up.

An opinion by the supreme court was sought after Superior Court Justice J. Arthur Baker dismissed Reardon's petition seeking a writ of mandamus to compel Civil Service Comr. Thomas H. Greehan to certify his employment.

The opinion, written by Justice Stanley E. Qua, ruled that the job of schoolhouse custodian comes under Civil Service jurisdiction.

Moderate to heavy rain is forecast here tonight, ending by tomorrow at noon. Lowest temperature tonight is expected to be near 45.

Raiders Return Seized Liquor

Federal alcoholic tax agents seized 110 cases of beer and distilled liquor at a club cafe in Wilmington early today but were forced to turn it back to the owner when a receipt for payment of the tax was produced.

Later in the day three Revere men were arraigned before U. S. Commr. Martin T. Hall in federal court as a result of a raid by agents 24 hours earlier in an alleged basement "speakeasy" in Broadway, Revere, and were ordered held in $1000 each for hearing May 17 on charges of selling liquor in premises where they had no license.

The trio, James Cataldo, 43, of Revere st.; his brother, Anthony, 39, of Blanchard ave., and Theodore Damicki, 50, of Broadway, were brought into court after raiders found liquor being served after hours in a basement adjoining the Circle Club, which the elder Cataldo owns. The club was ordered closed by the Revere licensing commission.

Widow Appeals Jail Sentence

Mrs. Louise Cooke, 25, a war widow, who told of squandering $2600 of her husband's insurance in three months, was sentenced today to three months in jail on a morals charge and one month on a charge of larceny, in municipal court. She appealed and was held in $3000.

Bag Thief Gets $830 Deposit

A youthful handbag snatcher escaped with $672 in cash and checks for $158 more today when he seized the bag which Miss Amelia Bannucci, 21, of Porter st., Somerville, cashier of a Salem st., North End, jewelry store, was carrying to deposit in a State st. bank.

The young woman said the youth, about five feet seven inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds and wearing a sleeveless sweater, grabbed the bag as she reached the intersection of Endicott and Cross sts. She gave chase but the young man outdistanced her.

A SON RETURNS—Home after three years in a Jap prison camp, Arthur Gesemyer, 27, of Buffalo, N. Y., weeps with joy as he clutches his mother, who was at the dock in Los Angeles to meet him. Gesemyer was held with his father and brother at Santo Tomas and Los Banos and returned to the U. S. with 2000 other evacuees aboard a transport. AP Wirephoto

Gloucester Dragger Sinks Off Cape Cod

GLOUCESTER, May 3 (INS)—The Gloucester fishing dragger Ethel S. Huss sank off Cape Cod canal today while being towed home by another dragger, the Phyllis and Mary.

The Huss' crew of three scrambled aboard the Phylis and Mary, while the crew of the latter cut the tow rope. The Huss carried 40,000 pounds of fish. The crew said she developed engine trouble and a leak.

Brockton Man Dies After Hub Hotel Fall

A man identified by police as Irving Myer, 40, of Brockton, died at City Hospital today of injuries suffered when he fell 40 feet to the sidewalk in Tamworth st. from a second-floor room of the Hotel Touraine.

Hubby Preferred Blondes, Brunette Wife Tells Court

Her husband was crazy over blondes and he kept a little red book with the names of a whole bevy of them, according to the testimony of very brunette and attractive Lydia Eliseo, 22, of Commercial st., North End, in seeking legal separation today in Suffolk Probate Court from her husband, Guerrino.

In fact, Mrs. Eliseo produced the red book in court and Eliseo, medically discharged sailor, admitted to Judge John V. Mahoney it was all too true—at least the book was his and the names were in his handwriting.

"He kept telling me he liked blondes," the young wife testified. "Once he took the book away from me and tore out some pages, but I got it back and there were still plenty of names left. One time a girl named Ruth called me up from Framingham and said she loved my husband and asked why I didn't let him go."

In bringing his own cross-libel, asking that it be ruled he was living apart for justifiable reasons, Elisea said he only left home after his wife ordered him out. He said she once punched him in the eye and showed Judge Mahoney a scar, caused by a ring she wore.

Mrs. Eliseo admitted the punch, but said she struck in self defense. According to testimony, Eliseo, who now lives in Lynn, was granted a veteran's loan of $1000 and set himself up last summer as a contract painter. The couple were wed Oct. 11, 1942, just before he went into the Navy.

Judge Mahoney ruled in favor of the wife, ordering Eliseo to pay her $20 a week separate support and pay all hospital expenses for the baby the couple soon expect.

Estranged Hubby Checks On Wife; Court Checks Him

LAWRENCE, May 3—Although he separated from his wife a year ago and divided custody of their two daughters by court decree, Allan T. Gilchrist of Cambridge st., a chauffeur, has spent much of his spare time since checking to see that she lives a good and virtuous life.

This he readily admitted in Probate Court here today in answering a petition by his wife, Mary Gilchrist, asking that he be banned from following her around and restraining her personal liberty.

Mrs. Gilchrist, who lost a suit for divorce a year ago but was given custody of a 10-year-old daughter, said her husband now waited for her outside the Arlington Mills and followed her home, hurling accusations all the way.

She said he threatened to "give her the works," stuck pins in the tires of her parked automobile and spied on her home nights. She also asked custody of her other daughter, now 13, who was awarded to her husband in the previous court action.

Gilchrist denied sticking pins in her tires but did say he parked outside her home nights and followed her around to see that she behaved herself.

Asked by counsel for the plaintiff, "What are you, a detective?" Gilchrist quickly replied:

"Yes. I kept checking up on her. I accused her of going to rooming houses with other men, and she didn't deny it. I have plenty of reason to suspect my wife."

FDR, Jr., Cited For Sinking Sub

By JAMES HUTCHESON

ABOARD A CRUISER OFF BORNEO, April 29 (delayed), (AP)—An elusive Jap submarine played dead beneath two searching American destroyers until both lost contact with it.

Finally Lt. Com. Franklin D. Roosevelt, the late President's son, guided his little escort ship through a two-hour hunt and five target runs which ended with a tremendous underwater explosion. The submarine was listed as "probably sunk" and Navy men felt the explosion marked the end of the enemy sub.

Lt. Com. Roosevelt was awarded the Legion of Merit too late for his father to know of the citation.

Italy Cost U. S. Toll of 109,163

A two-alarm blaze today swept the Magnesium Casting Co. plant, Business st., Hyde Park, causing $50,000 damage.

Fire officials said the blaze was caused when a high pressure oil line broke, showering oil on molten metal.

Kennedy Sees Peril In Dispute at Parley

Lt. John F. Kennedy, recently retired PT boat hero of the South Pacific and son of the former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, is covering the United Nations Conference from a GI point of view for the Boston Evening American. Before the war he authored the best seller "Why England Slept."

By JOHN F. KENNEDY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—The word is out more or less officially that Molotov is about to pick up his marbles and go home. He'll leave his delegation here to carry out the important detailed work.

This news comes as no surprise because, as the spotlight turns toward Europe and the war's ending, not only Molotov but many of the reporters are getting ready to head east.

Diplomacy might be said to be the art of who gets what and how as applied to international affairs.

Molotov's record was .500. He won the fight over chairmanship and the fight for the inclusion of White Russia and the Ukraine. He lost on Poland and the Argentine.

This last fight over Argentina has been hailed as a moral victory for him, but it remains to be seen how much they pay off on moral victories.

This battle, however, is worth examining as it gives a good insight into Russian diplomacy at this conference.

The maneuvering really began when a reporter asked Molotov whether he was in favor of admitting Argentina to the United Nations conference. He replied with what appeared sincere surprise that that was "a new question" for him and that he had no comment. Yet four days later he waged a bitter battle on the assembly floor against Argentina being admitted to the conference.

What caused this change of attitude?

The most popularly accepted theory is that he thought that by making a fight over it he could win a compromise and bring Poland in on Argentina's coat-tails.

No one here held any particular brief for Argentina's conduct during the war—but the South Americans did want her in. It was their belief that any Fascist tendencies Argentina might have could be controlled better if she was joined with them than if she went her way alone.

They also felt that since she had been admitted to the conference at Chapultepec with President Roosevelt's OK, she should also be admitted here.

Some of the European countries went along, realizing that Argentine food and supplies could be a big help in rehabilitating Europe.

All of these factors combined to produce a vote of 31 to 4 in favor of Argentina.

There is an old diplomatic axiom—don't pick a fight unless you think you can win it. Molotov picked his fight and lost.

The serious danger of all this is that the Russians, by attempting to block the one thing the South Americans as a group wanted, may have molded those countries into a solid anti-Soviet block. That would be a completely unhealthy situation for everyone.

Russian prestige is still high. But its armies to the east have done more to keep it high than its diplomats in the west.

VFW Advocates Postwar Training for 18-Year-Olds

By DAN MARKEL
Boston Evening American
Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON, May 3 — The Veterans of Foreign Wars' national legislative committee agreed on a pattern for postwar universal military training closely linked to the National Guard system.

In its rough draft, the VFW program calls for each youth at 18 to become a member of the National Guard unit in his locality. Training would follow the prewar Guard routine of one night's drill each week and field experience

Details of the VFW plan will be worked out before June 4, when the House committee on postwar military policy will begin hearings on the training issue.

Length of compulsory service that will be advocated by the VFW has not yet been determined, but sentiment favored a three-year period of one-night-a-week training plus the encampments.

Laval in Spanish Military Prison, Fears French Trial

By CHARLES S. FOLTZ

MONTJUICH CITADEL, Spain, May 3 (AP)—Pierre Laval, Vichy's former chief of government who sought refuge in Spain, listened to the "Voice of America" broadcast in French today for outside news in this stone military prison 600 feet above Barcelona harbor.

I saw him enter the fortress in an American automobile which brought him from the airport where he landed in a German bomber at noon yesterday. A felt hat was pulled tightly over his creased forehead. He surveyed the massive walls of the prison where he was brought to await disposition by the Allies at American demand.

Laval expressed fears to Spaniards that he would be taken to France to be judged.

Laval did not expect to be treated as a prisoner. A suite at the Ritz occupied in the past by the Duke of Windsor, U. S. presidential envoy Myron C. Taylor and Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler still is reserved for him and his wife.

Laval's special quarters are beside the wall where the anarchist Francisco Ferrer, National Gen. Manuel Goded and Luis Companys, Republican President of Catalonia, had been shot under successive regimes. Another ironic twist for Laval, author of many Vichy anti-Jewish decrees, was that Montjuich in Catalan means "Mount of Jews."

Halt Coal Output For Third Day

WILKES-BARRE Pa., May 3 (AP)—Production losses in the Pennsylvania anthracite coal region mounted today as 72,000 workers at 231 operations went into the third day of their work stoppage.

Many miners in the hard coal section predicted there would be no resumption of work during the present week, irrespective of what develops in New York, where United Mine Worker representatives and mine operators are deadlocked in contract negotiations.

The miners failed to report to their jobs after expiration of their old contract Monday midnight.

Britons Demand Facts on Soviet Acts in Poland

Special to Boston American

LONDON, May 3—The Polish question came to the fore in the House of Commons when Minister of State Richard Law, deputizing for Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, faced questions on the situation in Poland, according to Reuter's News Agency.

Com. Robert Bower, persistent critic of Russian policy, questioned Law about a number of public executions, which he alleged had taken place in territory controlled by the Warsaw provisional government.

He charged that 24 Poles were hanged in the market square of Lublin, after opposing speakers by announced elections to be held on a one-party basis.

He stated the hangings occurred April 24, in the presence of high officers of the Soviet force.

The next day, he claimed, five additional Poles, two of them American citizens, were shot, while six farmers were hanged without trial April 16.

Law replied he had had one report bearing on two of the incidents, though the details were not altogether similar.

He added there was no way of checking the accuracy of the information.

Law assured the House Britain was honoring the Yalta agreement on liberated prisoners, affording the "best possible" treatment to liberated Soviet citizens.

And Then--Boy!

BERLIN, Md., May 3 (AP)—There was no hot time in the town of Berlin (Maryland) last night after the fall of Berlin (Germany)—citizens of Berlin (Maryland) took the news quietly and gravely.

There had been great plans, but they were called off recently because of the "seriousness of the war situation."

So now there won't be any hot time in the town of Berlin (Maryland) until the Japs are whipped.

"For us the Führer is not dead," the order said, "and out of allegiance [illegible] to him stem most of [illegible] German to Adolf Doenitz. We will [illegible] at his side and obey his command. Everyone must do his duty. Long live the nation!"

Russian armies were [illegible] reported by Moscow dispatches massing on the southeastern border of Bohemia for a push toward Prague.

The announcement heralding the fall of Hamburg came less than 12 hours after Marshal Stalin had announced capture of Berlin by his Russian forces.

The broadcast was made in German in the name of Secretary of State Ahrendt.

"Any resistance by the populace will be crushed by force of arms," the German announcement said. "All traffic on the streets must stop at noon while the British take over the city. Hamburg police will remain on duty."

Elsewhere on the war fronts the northern German holdings were split into several untenable pockets and the soluthern section was shrunk by the surrender in Italy of nearly 1,000,000 German combat and service troops. The Alpine "redoubt" was virtually wiped out under terms of the surrender. The Germans still held Bohemia and Moravia, eastern Austria and the mountainous region of northwest Yugoslavia.

Even this southern section was about to be split by a junction of Gen. Patton's Third Army and the Russians around the Austrian city of Linz.

With the loss of Berlin Hamburg, Luebeck and Rostock, the only large German cities remaining under the swastika were Breslau, Dresden, Chemnitz and Kiel.

The Danubian fortress of Passau, guardian city to Linz, fell to Patton's troops.

The general German crackup was accelerated. Supreme headquarters listed capture of Field Marshal Baron Maximilian Von Weichs, former commander in the Balkans, with Field Marshals von Rundstedt, Freihar, Von Sperrle and 18 generals. Some 93,797 Germans surrendered Monday for a total since D-Day for Eisenhower's armies of 2,801,915.

Loss of Berlin and the death of Hitler were blows to German morale. Soldiers and officers now were released from their personal oaths of fidelity to the man who Moscow said is reported by the captive Dr. Fritsche to have committed suicide.

Col. Darby Killed 2 Days Before Truce

ROME, May 3 (AP)—Col. William O. Darby of Arkansas, who helped organize and then commanded the American Ranger battalions through the grim fighting in North Africa and Sicily, was killed by a German artillery shell just two days before the end of the war in Italy, it was revealed today.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I applied for hospitalization under the Emergency Infant and Maternity Care program and was accepted. My husband has been reported missing. Am I still entitled to the hospitalization? L. P., Weymouth.

A—Yes, once your application has been approved you are entitled to the hospitalization regardless of any change in the soldier's status.

Q—My husband has been in the Army for almost three years. When he went in he was classified for limited service and he thought he would not be sent overseas, so he never took any government insurance. Now he is overseas. Can he apply for the insurance now or is he ineligible for overseas? Can he apply for the insurance now or is he ineligible for it, being in so long without it? T. A., Lynn

A—The soldier may apply for National Service Life Insurance at any time he wishes. He should contact his personnel officer and request that an application be filed on his behalf.

Q—If a soldier carries government insurance and is killed in action, does his beneficiary receive payment in a larger amount than if he died from an illness? G. L., Quincy.

A—No, the manner in which the soldier dies does not make any difference in the amount of insurance paid. The rate of payment is based on the age of the beneficiary at the time of death of the soldier.

Q—My son was reported missing over a year ago and is presumed by the War Dept. to be dead. I have been informed that I will receive National Service Life Insurance of $40.30 a month for the rest of my life. If I die before the full value of the policy is paid to me, will it automatically go to my next of kin? M. McA., Framingham.

A—If your son named a contingent beneficiary—that is, another person to receive payment in event of your death—the insurance payments will go to that person providing he or she is the wife, child, parent, brother or sister of the soldier. If no other beneficiary was named by the soldier, and you do not live to receive full payment due, it would go to the person next in line for payment as listed above.

Q—My husband is overseas and has a War Bond sent to his mother each month. Isn't he obliged to have them made out to me as co-owner? L. R., Stow.

A—No, the soldier may designate his mother as co-owner if he so desires.

Q—I receive family allowance of $120 for myself and three children. I owe a bill for furniture. Can the company attach that so that an amount is withheld from me each month? M. C., Roxbury.

A—No, family allowance may not be claimed or attached by any person or agency to collect a bill.

Quick OK Seen for $1000 Vet Bonus

WASHINGTON, May 3 (AP)—A veterans bonus drive, with an estimated $11,000,000,000 price tag attached, is in full swing on Capitol Hill.

It got off to a flying start under guidance of Rep. Rankin, chairman of the House Veterans' committee and one of the framers of the GI Bill of Rights.

It calls for payment of $20 a week for a year to any member of the armed forces who served 90 days or more since Sept. 16, 1940, and was not dishonorably discharged.

Stoutly insisting that it is an adjusted compensation proposal rather than a bonus bill, Rankin predicted the measure he introduced as an amendment to the G. I. Bill of Rights would win early and overwhelming approval.

On the basis of $1040 each for the more than 10,000,000 men and women eligible, the total cost would be in the neighborhood of $11,000,000,000

The adjusted compensation would be in addition to mustering-out pay already provided by law.

DON'T GIVE AWAY AMERICAN JOBS

THE MANNER in which public spokesmen sometimes misunderstand, and consequently misinterpret, issues of the utmost national importance is being illustrated before the Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives in Washington.

The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives is holding hearings on the proposal to extend the so-called "Reciprocal" Trade Agreements Act and to permit the Executive branch of the government to reduce tariff rates as much as 75 per cent instead of the 50 per cent originally "authorized."

Appearing before the committee was Mr. Irving Richter, legislative representative of the United Automobile Workers of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, who said:

"We know from our history that a high level of imports has always been accompanied by high production and high employment in this country.

"We know all authorities agree that unless there is a high level of imports and exports we will not have full employment after the war."

Apart from the circumstance that "all authorities" are NOT so agreed, the implication is wholly and dangerously fallacious.

It seeks to convey the idea that, because a large volume of imports may COINCIDE with "high production and high employment" in America, the one is due to the other in the order indicated.

The economic fact is that EXACTLY THE OPPOSITE IS TRUE.

Foreign trade has never been equal to more than 7 per cent of our domestic trade.

The HOME MARKET, not the FOREIGN MARKET, has developed and sustained our high production and employment levels and our high wage rates.

WHEN COMMERCE and industry thrive at home, under peacetime conditions, one of the results is an increase in imports.

Our industries increase their imports of raw materials used in manufacture.

Our traders likewise increase their imports of foreign products which the people may need to buy from abroad.

Both are able to do so BECAUSE production for the home market creates employment and purchasing power IN AMERICA.

And the protective tariff system, by keeping the home market from being flooded with COMPETITIVE goods exported by cheap-labor countries, is one of the factors that enable our American economy to operate.

Let there be any important recession in the home market, and imports decline as our purchasing power dwindles.

And the surest means of destroying the home market for American goods, produced by American labor at American wages—and minimizing our imports, too—is to abolish the protective tariff system on which our purchasing power depends—as the proposed new trade agreements legislation seeks to do.

ON MUCH of our import trade there are no duties because the goods are noncompetitive with our own industry and labor.

On competitive merchandise, however, a protective tariff is essential IF OUR PRODUCERS ARE TO REMAIN IN BUSINESS and THEIR WORKERS ARE TO HAVE JOBS. And this is particularly true in our highly industrialized New England area.

Labor leaders especially should understand that jobs cannot be produced for American workers by hiring foreign workers to compete in our own market.

We did that before the war and, as millions sadly recall, the result was widespread joblessness, pay cuts, doles, breadlines and hopelessness.

We don't want a similar experience a few years hence.

The song of life is sung, the spring is dead.
Gone, forever gone are you, my wife I cherished,
And empty, empty is my bed.
You were my comrade gay, my home, my treasure.
You were my bosom friend in all things true,
My best loved pupil in the art of pleasure.
Stern death took all I had in taking you.

"IRISH Eyes Are Smiling" is a wonderful song, but Ernie Ball shouldn't get all the credit for it. Ernie wrote the music, but George Graff, Jr., wrote the words. In a general way the idea was Chauncey Olcott's. Chauncey said he would like to have a song "about Irish eyes." So Graff wrote the words, had his partner, Ball supply the music. Olcott liked the song and introduced it. Incidentally, George Graff, Jr., is the only song writer I know who was born on Broadway, Manhattan. He first saw the light in a house on Broadway at 67th st.

A Chelsea subscriber is trying to tell me a 53-year-old woman of his town, stating she was 19, entered a beauty contest for girls under 20 and won it. For that one I demand substantial proof and plenty of it. Speaking of Chelsea, when I was in prep school, I knew a girl from that town whose first name was Martini. Her folks named her after the cocktail. Very unusual, don't you think?

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1945, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 3—My countrymen, you should have been around the sumptuous halls of the Palace Hotel last Saturday evening.

The cynosure of the occasion was Mr. Roy Howard, who, back in 1918 filed a cable from Brest, France, to the United Press in New York, ending the war four days too quick and who, diminuendo, ever since had been reminded of his earnest, honest faux pas by friend and foe.

Westbrook Pegler

Just as he stands, Mr. Howard is a fairly high-octane cynosure at any time, with his Joe Urban scenic effects and his bow-ties matching his shirts which are otherwise unmatched anywhere.

But this occasion was special for the Associated Press had just come along 27 years later and stuck its foot in the same bear-trap. The A. P. had sent out a bulletin under a San Francisco date line leading off with the flat statement that Germany had surrendered and that an announcement of this fact was expected momentarily, all this on the authority of an unidentified "high American official."

As the evening wore on, the A. P.'s bulletin became more and more exclusive. Time in its flight turned backward to that November day in 1918 when Mr. Howard blew all the whistles in the U. S. A. and caused the destruction of incalculable tonnage of telephone books torn into confetti and an aggregate voltage of hangover that would have equalled the blast of one of those British earthquake bombs.

★ ★ ★

IT IS A COINCIDENCE that both these vast wars of the United States should have been prematurely called off by two of the great American press associations but it is a reminder, too, that intentional fakery is unthinkable in our noble craft, however imperious and uncharitable the A. P. was in the hour of Mr. Howard's distress.

The mishap goes to show how exceedingly careful our journalism is, with the exception of the Left Wing excrescences of recent years which have neither manners nor ethics, and how great the risks of error, in the clutches.

I think the situation is comparable to World Series play in which the tension always is so great that in almost every series some master ballplayer lets a fly drop dead which, ordinarily, he could turn his back on and catch in his flask pocket.

A similar error on a state wire regarding the dog-tax law in the Legislature would be inconspicuous and forgotten in a day. But in the case of a great war, as the enemy crumbles rapidly toward the end, all concerned are taut and jumpy.

If this A. P. tip on the end of the second World War had been correct, the reporter who brought it in would have become one of our immortals and never mind any arrangement for the simultaneous release of the official flash at the White House or anywhere else.

★ ★ ★

WAS THE A. P. RIGHT in taking a chance on one man's word as to his understanding of the facts? That calls for second-guessing and my only reservation is that I would have backed into it by writing that "a high official announced—" and so forth, thus treating the matter with the utmost reserve, as the English say.

But Sen. Tom Connally is, after all, a very highfile as an official and ordinarily you wouldn't think that he could permit himself to be mistaken in such a matter.

In Howard's case, the flash was given him by Admiral Wilson of our Navy in Brest, who had received it in a phone call ostensibly from the American Embassy in Paris.

As I understand it, the call never was traced and might have been either a German trick or, less likely, a bit of sheer mischief. Anyway, Admiral Wilson and Sen. Connally were very manful, for each voluntarily took the reporter off the spot by identifying himself as the source of the information and vindicating the press of carelessness or any intention to jump the gun with a surmise or to fake.

In either case, had the information been correct, the informant would have remained anonymous, receiving no credit, yet, when blame was rife, both came forward to take it.

I observed no exultation for we all know that at any moment, with such awful flashes of history breaking about us, someone may throw the ball over the first baseman's head and up into the stands from over-trying.

Mr. Howard and Mr. Kent Cooper of the A. P. are friends and neighbors in New York, and I imagine Mr. H. will be having Mr. C. over for a social evening soon to compare scrap-books on premature flashes.

HOLLYWOOD, May 3—You may not recognize Paramount's new story buy under the title "Alice," but when I tell you it is Sir James M. Barrie's famous old play, "Alice Sit by the Fire," it should strike a familiar note. It helps if you are over 100!

The deal was just closed with Lady Cynthia Asquith, heir to the Barrie estate. The play, first produced in London in 1905, was the same year Jean and Ethel Barrymore starred in it on Broadway.

Last year the success of the Barrie movies "The Little Minister" and "Alice Sit by the Fire" prompted Charles Brackett, who will produce "Alice," to ask Jean Arthur to read the script. Miss Arthur said no, because she was too young for the part.

I KNEW it wouldn't be wanted long enough for Gregory Peck. He would get the independent bug. He'll all do sooner or later. Just when Greg will get time to make his own pictures (or even a single one) I don't know. He's in such demand my only guess is he'll have to make his film at night or between scenes. But the word comes straight from playwright Irwin Shaw that Peck wants to try his wings as an independent. The two are hatching a deal to produce Shaw's play, "The Assassin," now a big hit in London, as an independent movie.

WASHINGTON, May 3—Since President Truman dropped in unexpectedly at the Pentagon building last week there has been a general giddyapping of government agencies all over Washington. Bureau heads are afraid the President may bust in on them any minute.

Concern over a presidential surprise visit, which will catch them with their feet up on their desks, has extended to the lesser ranks of officialdom, too. The day after Truman's Pentagon pilgrimage I overheard a section chief at OPA rebuke a subordinate who had pursued the hitherto fixed policy of dumping all the day's government releases on the floor.

The chief turned on his astonished aide and snarled:

"That's going to look nice when the President walks in, isn't it?"

★ ★ ★

THE threat of a Truman surprise visit has worked wonders. The other afternoon one of the House page boys came down a corridor energetically chewing gum. The youth tossed away the gum—which I understand is fairly hard to get these days—when Sergt. Robert J. McCullough of the Capitol guards chided:

"How do you think the President's going to like it when he comes in and sees you chumping away like that?"

★ ★ ★

I TOLD the little woman I thought there was something inspiring about the President of the United States going around Washington to see things for himself.

"It's like Haroun-al-Rashid," I said.

"Is it?" responded the little woman. "You know the darndest people!"

I told the little woman that Harun-Al-Rashid was not one of my playmates; that he was the Caliph of Bagdad.

"That doesn't matter," she sniffed. "We'll probably have him saddled on us some weekend. What about the time you were working for Col. Fred Cummings' baum show and you brought home the fellow who wanted to swallow the front end of a gila monster?"

★ ★ ★

IT IS GOING to take some time, I am afraid, for President Truman to get used to the idea that his movements, of necessity, must be limited. He is accustomed to doing things for himself, when he wants to do them, without consulting an array of guardians.

On at least two occasions since assuming the presidency he has discovered himself in need of personal items—and been on the point of walking down to the nearest department store to buy them, when aides stopped him short with the reminder that the President cannot ramble around unattended.

★ ★ ★

INCIDENTALLY, the first person to obtain Mr. Truman's autograph after he became President was Betty Euler, the shapely secretary to Secretary of the Senate Leslie Biffle.

Note: It is Miss Euler who is shapely; not Mr. Biffle.

★ ★ ★

BASEBALL'S new commissioner, Happy Chandler, went to the ball game the other day with Col. John Gottlieb, of the general staff. They found an admiral and his aide in their seats.

Happy did not discover the identity of the admiral until next day when he received this note:

"I have just learned that I usurped the seats of the head man of baseball. Can't have this sort of thing happening."

The note was signed by Adm. Edward C. Kalbfus, director of the Office of Naval History!

HEARD THOSE grand lamas of bellylaughter, Olsen and Johnson, honored on Radio's Hall of Fame—which reminded me of a herculean task they performed recently.

In the space of two hours, they rewrote practically their entire Broadway hit, "Laffing Room Only."

The show, from start to finish, was loaded with gags about Mrs. Roosevelt. They were friendly gags; in fact the former First Lady had seen the show and laughed until she cried.

Ole Olsen didn't hear about the President's death until nearly 6 o'clock the tragic night. He contacted Chic Johnson and they gathered at the theater along with all the [illegible] they could round up and Dave Murray, their general manager.

In between rewriting the script the comedians helped rip out bits of scenery and tack up—mostly with thumbtacks—other make-shift bits. Despite everything the curtain rose on the dot at 8:30.

Spring Foods

By MARTHA LEE

SPRING IS HERE and with it the fever named for the season. Grandmother's method of combating "spring fever" was to administer doses of sulphur and molasses, herb tea and tea made from sassafras bark. These remedies have been handed down from mother to daughter for generations and children were dosed as regularly as spring followed winter.

Today we plan to include in our menus wholesome foods that are good sources of minerals and vitamins—foods that act as a tonic to help combat spring fever. Among the spring tonic foods are wheat bran, whole grain cereals, molasses, fresh fruits, such as strawberries and rhubarb, as a change from the citrus fruits that have been consumed all winter, and fresh green vegetables. Choose recipes that use generous portions of these tonic foods and spring fever will be gone with the winds.

ASPARAGUS VINAIGRETTE

1 tsp. salt — ½ tsp. paprika
Dash cayenne
3 tbsp. cider vinegar
1 tbsp. tarragon vinegar
¼ cup salad oil
1 tbsp. minced parsley
1 tbsp. chopped pickle
1 tbsp. minced chives
½ clove garlic
1 bunch asparagus

Combine seasonings; add vinegars and salad oil; beat until thick and smooth. Add remaining ingredients; let mixture stand ½ hour. Cook asparagus in small amount of boiling, salted water until tender. Heat sauce; remove garlic and serve over drained asparagus. Makes 6 servings.

Spinach becomes a savory and exciting dish when prepared the Middle American way, with onion, green pepper, tomato and a dash of chili powder.

SAVORY SPINACH

2 lbs. spinach — 1 tbsp. salad oil
½ clove garlic
¼ tsp. chili powder
1 onion, minced
1 green pepper, minced
2 tomatoes, diced

Wash spinach thoroughly and cook without additional water. Drain well, season and chop. Fry the garlic in the salad oil for 3 minutes, then discard. Fry the onion and green pepper in the oil for 5 minutes, until soft but not browned. Add the chili powder and tomatoes and continue frying over low heat until the mixture forms a sauce, about 5 more minutes. Add the spinach, mix thoroughly and reheat. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MOLASSES BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups bran
½ cup molasses
1 egg, beaten
1 cup sifted flour
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. soda

Add bran to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Add egg. Sift flour, salt and soda together and combine with bran mixture. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen muffins 2½ inches in diameter).

STRAWBERRY RHUBARB PIE

1 tbsp. butter or margarine
1½ cups sugar
1 cup rhubarb, cut in ½-inch pieces but not peeled
1 cup strawberries, cleaned and hulled
2 eggs, separated
1 tbsp. flour — ½ tbsp. sugar

Melt the butter, add 1 cup of the sugar and rhubarb and strawberries, cook until fruit is slightly softened and the sugar melted. Add the egg yolks, beaten slightly. Mix the remaining ¼ cup sugar with the flour and add. Cook until fruit is of a jelly-like consistency. Pour into baked pie shell and top with meringue made by gradually beating sugar into beaten egg whites. Brown in a slow oven (300 deg. F.) about 15 minutes. Makes 1 one-crust (8-inch) pie.

Arrests Graying Process

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

Beauty and Fashion Editor

SILVER THREADS among the gold are practically invisible . . . and that's where the blonde has it all over the brunette. For when we dark-haired gals start sprouting silver threads they are definitely noticeable . . . and not conducive to the youthful look we think we still have . . . (Ask me, I know.)

At dinner the other night with a member of one of the most noted hair specialist firms in the country . . . their hair institute remained opened in Paris all during the war and is still keeping up . . . we asked her about one of her unusual preparations . . . a tonic that stimulates pigmentation of the hair and has been known to arrest graying in many, many instances. Would it actually delay graying, we wanted to know . . . and what caused premature fading of the hair.

RESTORES HAIR VITALITY

Usually people with dry hair get gray much sooner, she told us . . . and dark hair requires more pigments in the scalp than the blonde or redhead. Pigmentation occurs, she went on, in the middle layer . . . between the horny outside hair and the cellular tissue layer . . . in the strands which sprout out of the scalp.

When pigmentation is lethargic and stagnant the hair strand fades and the color is lost . . . and naturally it turns to gray . . . mousey-ashen, if you will. This pigmentone tonic actually stimulates the pigmentation . . . brings back the vitality of the hair to a certain extent . . . and definitely arrests the graying process . . . if the condition is attended to once the first gray strands are seen.

CHECKS DANDRUFF

If this tonic is applied daily or every other day . . . but continuously . . . it will stimulate the pigmentation of the new hair coming in . . . and it will emerge in its true color. There is a length of life for hair. Since there is ultimately a snuffing out of old hair . . . and a replacement with new . . . it is logical to assume that with the faithful stimulation of this unusual pigment invigorator . . . naturally-colored hair will be encouraged and created.

Incidentally, she told us that people who use this pigmentone tonic never have dandruff . . . as it is an excellent counteractive tonic for the condition. It comes in two different types . . . one for the prematurely graying hair that is brown or black in color . . . inclined to be either oily or dry . . . and the other for light-colored hair inclined to be dry.

For the name of this unique hair pigment preserver, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LOVE MAY transform a village plain-Jane into a radiant beauty . . . but it won't restore natural color to gray-streaked and faded hair. That's a little process that requires a more scientific treatment . . . like a unique pigmentone tonic that has been known to arrest the silver threads and restore renewed vitality to newly-sprouted locks. At any rate, RKO Star Dorothy McGuire has nothing to worry about now.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday—From a number of sources I hear that some of the men in the services are worried about the $10,000 government insurance policies which they hold. They have discovered that the present insurance will expire in November, 1945, and they do not know whether the policies will be extended.

On making inquiry, I find that a bill to extend these policies will be sponsored by the Veterans Administration, which has not the slightest doubt it will be passed.

★ ★ ★

I WAS VERY MUCH INTERESTED in the announcement the other day that Congress was considering amendments to the GI Bill of Rights. It seems suddenly to have been discovered that the passage of legislation does not automatically mean that the servicemen get the benefits intended.

I am glad that discovery of various mistakes in the legislation has been made now, before a greater number of men come home.

There are two weaknesses, not widely mentioned, which I think are most important. First, there is the educational limit which makes that portion of the GI Bill of Rights apply only to people under 25. A man over 25 may need a refresher course even more than a younger man, and he should be able to get it under the educational provisions of the bill.

Second, there is the two-year limit for obtaining a loan to enter a business or buy a farm.

It seems to me quite evident that, as long as the war is on, it will be very difficult for any veteran to engage in a new business successfully. In many cases, it would be better for him to acquire more experience in a business which is already functioning. But if he must take his loan immediately or forfeit it, he is naturally forced to take it now.

★ ★ ★

THESE FAULTS in legislation are not the only weaknesses in the bills. A tremendous organizing job, however, needs to be done to implement whatever legislation is passed.

SOME women seem to think that if they can just get hold of something that is odd enough or rare enough, they are going to look pretty wonderful when they wear it. Well, about one woman in 10,000 can go in for what's bizarre and eccentric and come out a winner.

You're likely to seem much more attractive, for instance, wearing a hat with flowers on it than if you come out with some strange concoction of vulture feathers or such rare things. And when you pick a dress with a fantastic shape to it, just remember that nature shaped the ladies in a way that has always been the most pleasing to the most people.

Light Hoeing Is Sufficent For Sod Land in Garden

By FOSTER H. WEISS

(Head of Vegetable Garden Department, Norfolk County Agricultural School and Director of the Boston Record-American and Sunday Advertiser Victory Garden on Boston Common.)

Preparation and handling of the soil furnishes one of the confusing problems for home gardeners at this time of year.

So many different methods and tools are being used for this work that it is difficult to keep readers fully informed as to proper procedure.

Sod land, of course, is the biggest problem. The sod land that was turned over earlier is now beginning to give trouble.

Early seeds have not come up, and when the land is idle waiting for late crops grass is beginning to grow. The only way to handle this land is to go over it with a hoe or scuffle hoe to keep the grass from starting up. Do not dig deep or turn the sod up again. This sod will start to rot as soon as the weather warms up.

One mistake that most new gardeners make is to delay cultivation of crops after they break through the ground. Early-planted crops are now showing up, and if you want to make your job easy, cultivate lightly as soon as you can see the rows.

Probably the best tools for this job are the regular garden hoe and the scuffle hoe. It is not necessary to cultivate deep. Scraping over the surface is sufficient.

Another advantage of cultivation for early crops is that by breaking the crust you will stop evaporation or loss of soil moisture.

Many gardeners make a practice of mixing a small amount of fertilizer in the hole or furrow when setting plants. If you follow this practice, be sure to mix it well with the soil and do not allow roots to come in direct contact with the fertilizer.

Charles Gordon Trans-Lux Star

News of "The Vampire's Ghost," which developed an epidemic of shivers and shakes at its opening yesterday at the Trans-Lux Theater, is stage actor Charles "Chuck" Gordon's promising screen debut.

Gordon, good-appearing six-footer who is favorably known to local playgoers and neighboring "straw-hat" patrons as well as to daily serial radio listeners, plays the romantic lead in this latest Republic blood-curdler.

As a plantation official in a small town on Africa's west coast, recently the setting for a series of mysterious murders, Gordon determines to do some criminal investigating on his own. It is observed that when the town's underworld leader is shot at by hostile natives, a bullet goes through him without drawing blood.

This establishes the fellow as a vampire, which is several cuts above a crude gangster. Determined to expose the vampire, Gordon persists in his investigating, is mesmerized by the word underworld king and unable to tell what he has discovered.

Freed of the spell through the prayers and reasoning of an understanding priest, the young plantation official, with a party of natives, pursues the fleeing vampire who has kidnaped the young man's fiancee, rescues the girl and destroys the vampire.

Another chiller-diller to give you a Harpo Marx fright-wig is the companion picture, "The Phantom Speaks."

Guy Lombardo At RKO Boston

Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians open a week's stage show at the RKO-Boston today. The companion film attraction, "Rough, Tough and Ready," teams Victor McLaglen, Chester Morris and Jean Rogers.

Ranked with the biggies of the band business for more than 16 years, the Lombardo outfit is celebrated for "the sweetest music this side of heaven." Among the first orchestras to realize the value of radio, Guy Lombardo and his Royal Canadians have been on the air since the early days of broadcasting and haven't missed a week before the mike in the past decade.

Mell to Have Full Power In Match With Bartolo

By JACK CONWAY

GUS MELL OF Montreal will carry his full strength into the ring when he clashes with Sal Bartolo of East Boston, NBA featherweight king, in a 10-round bout at a Goodwin A. C. show at the Garden, tomorrow night. By so doing, Mell will sacrifice an opportunity to lift Bartolo's world title, but he will insure his ring future.

When Mell originally talked about making 126 pounds for Bartolo, I thought he was making a mistake. Gus is a 19-year-old growing boy. His natural weight is from 130 to 132 pounds. In order for him to reduce to 126 pounds the youthful Canadian would have to impair his strength.

Sal Bartolo

Mell at 126 pounds might defeat Bartolo, but he could not expect to gain back his lost vitality. He would have to continue making 126 pounds for title bouts, and in a short space of time he would have cracked up.

Young fighters do best when they do not take Nature on as an opponent. They should accept natural weight increases, get plenty of good food and sleep, and then get into the best possible physical condition for their bouts.

Mell will probably be 131 or 132 pounds when he faces Bartolo in the Garden ring tomorrow night. This means he will pack all his power behind every punch.

Bartolo will be at about 128 pounds which will give him speed as well as power. The East Boston youngster will be in better condition than when he last fought Mell as the wound over his right eye has healed.

Bartolo is sincere when he says he believed he had the better of the going in his last meeting with Mell. The baby-faced Canadian, however, showed the hitting ability and aggressiveness that won favor with the officials.

The Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser will receive 10 per cent of the gross receipts of the Garden bout after tax deductions.

Nova Should Win

I LOOK FOR Lou Nova to win from Charley Eagle in their 10-round bout at Mechanics Building tonight. Nova has been fighting well in recent starts. With a dearth of good heavyweight talent, the Californian is in a position to skyrocket into the big money again.

Eddie Mack tells me Eagle has never been knocked off his feet and that he will give Nova a hard fight. The fact Nova, while one of the best of the present crop of heavyweights, is not a super-fighter like Joe Louis gives Eagle hopes that he can upset the dope and win.

Suffolk's Racing Plans

ALLAN WILSON'S application for 60 days of racing for Suffolk Downs has been made broad enough to cover dates from May 15 until November 1 other than between Aug. 15 and Oct. 1 which is closed for the big tracks so that they will not conflict with the state fairs.

It is expected that when racing gets the green light that Judge James E. Dooley, Allan Wilson and Lou Smith will confer in an effort to avoid a racing conflict in New England.

★ ★ ★

If racing gets going by June, there will still be enough racing days left to assure each of the three major tracks prosperous seasons.

The government is unlikely to take any action on racing until after V-E day. The German and Fascist surrender in Italy helped bring V-E day closer.

Happy Shifts O'Connor, Office, Promotes Aide

CHICAGO, May 3 (AP)—A. B. (Hap py) Chandler, baseball commissioner-elect, said today the office of baseball commissioner will be moved from Chicago to Cincinnati. He said the present office of the late commissioner, K. M. Landis, would be maintained here temporarily, but that his office would be set up soon in Cincinnati, probably at the Netherland Plaza hotel.

Chandler made the disclosure at a press conference in his first visit to Chicago since he was elected commissioner April 24. Previously, he expressed uncertainty over whether the office would be moved.

Admitting the office will be a considerable distance from Chicago, home of the American League headquarters, and New York, where the National League is located, Chandler said "When ever anybody from either league wants to see me, I'll go to them."

At the same time, Chandler announced he had appointed Leslie M. O'Conner, former secretary to Landis, as "special assistant to the commissioner" for one year and that it may be some time before he resigns from the Senate.

Chandler held the press conference with a score of newspapermen in his first visit to Chicago as commissioner-elect. He said that Walker W. Mulbry, his secretary in the Senate, would serve as secretary-treasurer of the commissioner's office, succeeding O'Connor who had held that office 24 years under Landis.

The Senator admitted that his duties in the Senate, in view of increasing peace problems, might extend "longer than anybody can say." Previously he indicated he might sign his contract as commissioner within 30 to 60 days.

"Meanwhile, any baseball problems that arise will be handled by O'Connor and the other two members of baseball's advisory committee, Presidents Will Harridge and Ford Frick of the American and National Leagues," Chandler said.

"I will participate in any baseball discussions, however."

New Sox Hill Stars Face Yanks

By HUCK FINNEGAN

This was an off day in Boston baseball circles, but the fans had plenty to talk about. There were the five straight victories of the Red Sox; and rookie Jim Wilson's four-hit 4-0 shutout of the Senators; and the Yanks coming to town for single games tomorrow and Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday.

That series will pack them in. Cecil works tomorrow, Frank Merriwell Ferriss Saturday, and Wilson in one of Sunday's games. There's a trio of pitchers who seem capable of pitching the Sox into the first division.

Dave Ferriss

Wilson's midweek shutout was more of a masterpiece than Ferriss' 2-0 calciming of the A's last Sunday. But everybody expected it of Wilson; nobody knew Ferriss.

Wilson had been pitching pro ball only two years when he joined the Sox this spring. Two years ago he failed to win a game for Louisville. Last year he won 19. He'll win 19 in the big league as quickly as he realizes he's a big league pitcher.

Fred Walters was telling about Wilson's '44 debut at Louisville. "He hadn't won a game in organized baseball," Walters said, "and there he went into the ninth inning with a no-hit, no-run game. He got the first man out, but a couple of fellows got squib singles and he wound up losing the game 2-1. That was a heartbreaker. The kid's got guts, though. He proved it the way he came back to win 19."

Wilson got off poorly this spring. He injured his knee batting at Pleasantville, lost a week or 10 days. He started the second game of the opening series with the Yanks but was shellacked handsomely. He wasn't ready. So he was used in relief roles a couple of times, got his arm in trim, and Cronin sprung him against the Nats. He was ready this time.

He was in danger in the first when Case walked and Kuhel singled. But he fanned Binks on a high, hard one and forced Layne to fly out. No Senator reached after that until Case singled in the sixth. He was in danger in the seventh when Kuhel led off with a single. He got Binks and Layne out, walked Torres intentionally, Chipple unintentionally filling the bases, then threw out Guerra himself. Binks singled and Torres walked in the ninth but Newsome threw Chipple out to end the game.

"The first one's always the hardest," Wilson smiled after the game, remembering his Louisville experience.

"He had better control of his curve ball than he did at any time last year," said Walters who caught him. "He's faster than he seems, too. His smooth motion is deceptive. His fast pitch sneaks up on you."

Yes, and the Sox will be sneaking up the league ladder if they keep getting the pitching they've been getting since Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The Sox got all four runs in the eighth. Wilson singled through Torres. Newsome sacrificed. Steiner fanned (Haefner was handcuffing the left-handed batters). Metko was hit by a pitched ball, saving the day. Because up came the right-handed hitting Johnson who promptly cuffed one of Haefner's knuckle-lers for a triple, Wilson and Metko scoring. McBride's single, which sent home Johnson and Fox, was superfluous . . . Culberson has a strained leg muscle, Garbark a torn finger on his throwing hand . . . Before his shoulder operation, Case probably would have caught both Wilson's third inning double and Johnson's game winning triple. He can't stick his left hand above his head . . . Jim Tabor, on furlough from Camp Croft, S. C., attended the game. Jim weighs a trim 185, 10 pounds less than his playing weight with the Sox . . . Wilson is a real good sticker. Louisville used him as a pinch hitter.

Wilson Sees Early Break For Racing

By DAVE WILSON

All signs point to an early resumption of horse racing, the date some time between May 13 and June 1. And if you want this observer's private opinion, the ban will be lifted in time to start racing May 16.

According to yesterday's dispatches from New York, racing interests already have been assured by Washington that the thoroughbred industry will be restored following V-E Day.

Many of the better minds seem to think that V-E Day is only a few days distant, or possibly a matter of hours away.

Regardless of this date, most racing people do not expect the sport to be restored until after May 12, the termination of the official mourning period for the late President Roosevelt.

When racing does get the go-ahead signal from Washington, the matter of date allotments for New England tracks will probably be decided at a joint meeting of the Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island racing commissions.

Allan J. Wilson, the new president of the Eastern Racing Ass'n which owns and operates Suffolk Downs, laid the groundwork for this meeting when he requested 60 days of racing to be held some time between May 14 and Oct. 31, leaving it up to the Massachusetts Racing Commission to decide the actual dates.

Lou Smith, general manager of Rockingham Park and the pioneer of New England racing, is in favor of each New England track sharing equally in the number of lost racing days.

For example: If 30 days of the regular New England season were lost through the ban on racing, each track would subtract 10 days from its regular schedule.

Out Framingham way at Pine Tree Farm, Trainer Al Pupino is sending along his large string of thoroughbreds at a merry clip in anticipation of an early resumption of horse racing.

Valdina Alpha, one of the Pine Tree Stable's crack sprinters which went "wrong" last season, is walking soundly again, but trainer Pupino hasn't definately decided as yet to place the big bay horse back in training.

Alpha was recently bred to several mares, including the old New England favorite Dense Path, and Al may decide to reserve him for stud purposes.

According to Pupino, the Pine Tree Stable's racers will be vanned to Narragansett or some other New England track once racing gets the green light.

1st Place Giants Next for B's

By BILL GRIMES

BROOKLYN, May 3—Bob Coleman's fighting third-place Braves were rained out of the second and final game of their series with the Dodgers here today. Though disappointed at losing the chance to sweep the series in this dizziest of ballyards, the club immediately started planning to move over to the Polo Grounds to tackle the Giants tomorrow.

The Phils game with the Giants also was rained out, so both clubs will be well rested for their important week-end series.

The Braves' 3-to-1 conquest in the opener here was a thriller, headlined by the fine seven-hit pitching of Nate Andrews and by one of the most brilliant running catches in memory, made by Carden Gillenwater in the fifth when the Dodgers could have won the ball game.

Red Barrett had been Coleman's choice today to oppose the veteran Curt Davis. If the Braves could have fashioned another win today they would have gained new confidence for the series with the league-leading Giants.

However, they were just as well satisfied to postpone the assignment with the Bums at Ebbets Field, where the visiting team is always under handicaps experienced nowhere else.

Until such a time as visiting managers require their players to memorize the ground rules in vogue at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers will always have an ace in the hole, for all home games. For years the Dodgers have been tough for all National League clubs to beat in Flatbush. They know the ground rules, which gives them a decided edge.

On the other hand, the visiting players, probably, have never seen a copy of the modus operandi under which games are played at Ebbets Field.

Before games, the manager, or his representative, talks over the local ground rules. For the most part, managers take it for granted (why, I'll never know) that the players are familiar with the ground rules. Now and again, a manager will call his players' attention to a tricky regulation.

Well, there are six important ground rules at Ebbets Field. And if visiting players were quizzed on them, 90 to 95 per cent would flunk the test.

They do not know that a ball that hits the top of the scoreboard and comes out onto the playing field is in play. They'll insist that it is a home run, which it should be, but isn't. If they are trapped and tagged between bases on such a hit, they are "dead ducks."

When a ball is hit into the screen on top of the right field wall and sticks in the mesh, they have to be waved around the bases by the umpire. They do not know that it is a homer. Nor do they realize that they have connected with a circuit drive when the ball goes through any of the many holes in the same screen. Tommy Holmes put two through holes last year and trotted around the bases.

Out in deep right field between the stands and the fence, there are white lines painted on the wall. What do the white lines mean? Few players know. The local rule, however, is that a ball hit into that area is a home run.

At Ebbets Field, the bat racks are not recognized as part of the players' benches. So, if an overthrow goes into either rack and remains in there, the runners are allowed to advance another base. But, if the ball comes out, it is in play and the runners advance at will.

But here is the payoff. In deep left field, the wall swings out to within about a foot of the foul line. If a ball hits that wall, which is definitely on foul territory, on the fly, it is a fair ball.

They'll tell you, and rightly, that the Brooklyn fans are the screwiest in the world. It could be that something snapped in their noggins, while they were memorizing the ground rules at Ebbets Field.

But, let's get away from the ground rules at Ebbets Field and rehash the Braves' 3-1 victory over the Dodgers yesterday. It was a very important win for the Colemen, and, also one of the best games Nate Andrews has pitched in the two seasons he has been a Brave.

According to the official box score, the Dodgers reached Andrews for seven hits. Well, as we saw it, there were only three clean hits made by Leo The Lip's hirelings.

With two or possibly three exceptions, the Braves' defensive plays were routine. Chuck Workman came up with a fine stop off Owen; Tommy Holmes robbed Augie Galan of a hit by racing in and spearing a line drive, but it was Carden Gillenwater who made the catch of the afternoon, in the 5th inning, the only round in which the Dodgers made more than one hit off Andrews.

Eddie Stanky was on first base. The Braves were leading 2 to 1. Goody Rosen caught hold of a high outside pitch and the ball took off for deep left center. The strong east wind was blowing from left to right carrying the ball away from Gillenwater. At the beginning of the race between the ball and "Gilly," the ball looked like the winner. But, the fleet footed center fielder put on a burst of speed and actually caught up with the flying agate.

It was one of the best catches Gilly has made this spring. If that ball hadn't been caught, the Dodgers probably would have romped home, for Galan followed with a two-bagger which would have pushed across two runs, with only one man out. It was the payoff, and kept the Braves right up in the first division.

Eagle Out to Upset Nova at Mechanics

By BILL SMITH

Heavyweights Lou Nova of Los Angeles and Charley Eagle, Waterbury, Ct., are ready for their 10-round bout at Mechanics Building tonight under the direction of the Callahan A. C.

Eagle can upset the Nova applecart by scoring an unexpected victory which would put the damper on Lou's scheduled return match with Joe Baksi, due for a New York ball park this summer.

Rated a smart boxer, Eagle should be able to find Nova's chin, and according to ring critics who witnessed Lou's recent battle with Baksi, the former has slowed down considerably and Baksi, who is no great shakes as a boxer, had little trouble tagging Nova.

More power will be on display in the eight-round semi-final between Earl Lowman, iron jawed heavy from Detroit, and Henry Jones of Philadelphia. Both are crowd pleasers and have performed creditably in previous Boston bouts.

George "Red" Doty of Hartford, has been handed a tough assignment in the classy Lepp Webster, Fort Devens welter, in another eight rounder. Doty was a technical k. o. winner over Freddie Graham in his home town, last Tuesday night.

Another heavyweight bout is a six rounder between Schoolboy Jerry Berthiaume, Montreal, Canada, and Dula Kovach of Waterbury, Ct.

Sox Prospect Wakefield Star

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Wakefield High School's new baseball coach, Jim Walsh, is regretting the fact that there'll be no Class B competition in the Eastern Mass. championships next month. In spite of the fact that his team dropped an opening game verdict (5-4 in 11 innings) to Stoneham, Coach Walsh is convinced that he has the makings of a first class ball team.

He's quite confident that his little outfit, a well-balanced club with potency at the plate, could jump into a smaller class title play and more than hold its own.

"If the baseball championships were divided up into two divisions as they are in basketball in the Tech Tournament, I feel certain that we'd be in the midst of the battling," says the former Franklin High mentor. "We might not stack up so well against the Newtons and Medfords and the Somervilles, but I'll bet we'd do pretty well for ourselves in a lower bracketed group."

Wakefield's power, offensively and defensively, revolves around the stellar play of veteran George Armstrong, a combination first baseman and pitcher, right-handed all the way. Armstrong has been working out with the Red Sox and Coach Hughie Duffy feels that this 6-foot 185-pounder has the makings of a big leaguer. Duffy was particularly impressed with his pitching and Coach Walsh wishes to assure him that Armstrong's strong arm will be given plenty of opportunity.

Armstrong is one of four veterans. Coach Walsh has experienced players in pitcher Les DeMarco, a nifty little southpaw; captain Paul DeMarco, all round athlete and a standout in all sports, as catcher; Joe Collucello, shortstop, and Henry Rich, second base. Wakefield has all but an outfielder in that "down the middle" combination. Herman Pelletier, a newcomer, completes the infield.

Armstrong and L. DeMarco will have plenty of help from right-handers Ed Foley, a veteran, Joe Moore and Bob Dolbeare and southpaw Joe Ross, expected to return to the squad against Melrose tomorrow afternoon.

Joe Pridmore, who'll shift to first when Armstrong pitches, Joe Shwartz and Sam Crow have been patrolling the gardens nicely in Tom Oliver fashion. If their hitting holds up to pre-season promise, Wakefield will have no worry about pushing runs across the rubber.

Boston schoolboys will have another big afternoon tomorrow with five games on the card . . . they pit Latin vs. Hyde Park; East Boston vs. Trade; Charlestown vs. Roxbury Memorial; Dorchester vs. Brighton and English vs. Roslindale.
